For companies taxable under section 204 or section 207 (a) (1) or (3), "net capital loss" means the amount by which the losses for the taxable year from sales or exchanges of capital assets exceed the sum of the gains from such sales or exchanges and the lesser of (1) the corporation surtax net income (computed without regard to gains or losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets) or (2) losses from the sale or exchange of capital assets sold or exchanged to obtain funds to meet abnormal insurance losses and to provide for the payment of dividends and similar distributions to policyholders.

For companies taxable under section 207 (a) (1) or (3), all references to "item" or "line" numbers, Form 1120, shall be considered as references to the appropriate "item" or "line" in Form 1120M. It will be necessary for such companies to substitute for lines 14, 15, and 16 of the above alternative tax computation, a computation conforming to that on page 2 of Form 1120M.

(References are to the Internal Revenue Code)

Gains and losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets and other property.—Report sales or exchanges of capital assets and sales or exchanges of property other than capital assets in Schedule D on other side. Every sale or exchange of property; even though no gain or loss may be indicated, must be reported in detail.

Losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets shall be allowed only to the extent of gains from such sales or exchanges. However, the amount of a net capital loss sustained in any taxable year may be carried over to each of the five succeeding taxable years and treated in each such five succeeding taxable years and short-term capital loss to the extent not allowed as a deduction against any net capital gains of any taxable year intervening between the taxable year in which the net capital loss was sustained and the taxable year to which carried.

Definition of capital assets.—The term "capital assets" means property held by the taxpayer (whether or not connected with his trade or business), but does not include (a) stock in trade of the taxpayer or other property of a kind which would properly be included in the inventory of the taxpayer if on hand at the close of the taxable year, or property held by the taxpayer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of his trade or business, or (b) property used in the trade or business, of a character which is subject to the allowances for depreciation, provided in section 23 (1), or real property used in the trade or business of the taxpayer; or (c) a copyright; a literary, musical, or artistic composition, or similar property, or (d) an obligation of the United States or any of its possessions, or of a State or Territory, or any political subdivision thereof, or of the District of Columbia issued on or after March 1, 1941, on a discount basis and payable without interest at a fixed maturity date not exceeding 1 year from the date of issue.

tion, or similar property; or (d) an obligation of the United States or any of its possessions, or of a State or Territory, or any political subdivision thereof, or of the District of Columbia issued on or after March 1, 1941, on a discount basis and payable without interest at a fixed maturity date not exceeding 1 year from the date of issue. Classification of capital gains and losses.—The phrase "short-term" applies to the category of gains and losses arising from the sale or exchange of capital assets held for 6 months or less, the phrase "long-term" to the category of gains and losses arising from the sale or exchange of capital assets held for more than 6 months.

Enter full description of each item of property sold or exchanged, even though no gain or loss may be indicated. Such description should include the following facts: (a) For real estate, location and description of land, description of improvements, details explaining depreciation (column 5 of Schedule D); (b) for bonds or other evidences of indebtedness, name of issuing corporation, description of the particular issue, denomination, and amount; (c) for stocks, name of issuing corporation, class of stock, number of shares, and capital changes affecting basis (non-taxable stock dividends, other nontaxable distributions, stock rights, etc.).

The "basis" for the property is not subject to the same rule for reporting gains as for losses, if the property was acquired before March 1, 1913. If the property sold or exchanged was acquired prior to March 1, 1913, the basis of determining GAIN is the cost or the fair market value as of March 1, 1913, adjusted as provided in section 113 (b), whichever is greater, but in determining LOSS the basis is cost so adjusted. If property was acquired after February 28, 1913, basis for both gain and loss is the cost of such property, except as otherwise provided by section 113. The exceptions arise chiefly where property was acquired by gift, bequest, tax-free exchange, involuntary conversion, or wash sale of stock;

ciation, exhaustion, wear and tear, ossolescence, and depiction in respect of the property. This amount shall be the sum of the following:

(a) The amount of depreciation, exhaustion, wear and tear, obsolescence, and depletion which has been allowed (but not less than the amount allowable) in respect of such property since date of acquisition, or since February 28, 1913, if the property was acquired before that date. For any period after December 31, 1951, the amount of depreciation, etc., allowed (and which is in excess of the amount allowable) shall be disregarded to the extent that such excess does not result in a reduction for any taxable year of the taxpayer's income or excess profits taxes. In respect of any period after February 28, 1913, and before January 1, 1952, the taxpayer may disregard depreciation, etc., which was in excess of the amount allowable and which did not result in reduction of income or excess profits taxes only if an election is made in accordance with regulations. See section 113(b)(1)(B).

(b) The amount of depreciation, exhaustion, wear and tear, obsolescence, and depletion actually sustained prior to March 1, 1913, if the property was acquired before that date.

Subsequent improvements include expenditures for additions, improvements, renewals, and replacements made to restore the property or prolong its useful life. Do not deduct ordinary repairs, interest, or taxes in computing gain or loss.

Losses on securities becoming worthless.—If any securities (as defined below) become worthless within the taxable year and are capital assets, the loss resulting therefrom shall, in the case of a taxpayer other than a bank, as defined in section 104, be considered as a loss from the sale or exchange, on the last day of such taxable year, of capital assets. (See section 23 (k), the term "securities" means bonds, debentures, notes, or certificates, or other evidences of indebtedness, issued by any corporation (including those issued by a government or political subdivision thereof), with inte following:

(a) The amount of depreciation, exhaustion, wear and tear, which has been allowed (but not less

No deduction shall be allowed in respect of losses from sales or exchanges of property, directly or indirectly (except in the case of distributions in liquidation), between an individual and a corporation in which such individual owns, directly or indirectly, more than 50 percent in value of the outstanding stock; or (except in the case of distributions in liquidation) between two corporations more than 50 percent in value of the outstanding stock of each of which is owned, directly or indirectly, by or for the same individual, if either one of such corporations, with respect to the taxable year of the corporation preceding the date of the sale or exchange was, under the laws applicable to such taxable year, (1) a personal holding company, as defined in section 501, or (2) a foreign personal holding company, as defined in section 331. (See paragraph (1) (B) and (C) of section 24 (b).) (For the purpose of determining the ownership of stock, in applying this paragraph, see section 24 (b) (2).)

Gain on sales by a "controlled" corporation.—If (1) property is sold or exchanged after May 3, 1951, by a corporation to one or more of its shareholders, and (2) the property in the hands of such shareholders is depreciable property, and (3) such shareholders, their spouses, and their minor children and minor grandchildren own more than 80 percent in value of the outstanding stock of the corporation, then any gain on such sale or exchange shall not be treated as gain from the sale or exchange of property which is a capital asset or of property which is described in section 117 (j).

Gains and losses from involuntary convertion and from the sale shall not be treated as gain from the sale or exchange of property which is a capital asset or of property which is described in section 117 (j).

Gains and losses from involuntary conversion and from the sale or exchange of certain property used in the trade or business.—
The term "property used in the trade or business" as used in section 117 (j) means property used in the trade or business of character which is subject to the allowance for depreciation provided in section 23 (1), held for more than 6 months, and real property used in the trade or business, held for more than 6 months, which is not (a) property of a kind which would properly be includible in the inventory of the taxpayer if on hand at the close of the taxable year or (b) property held by the taxpayer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of his trade or business. Such term also includes timber or coal with respect to which section 117 (k) (1) or (2) is applicable as well as unharvested crops sold with the land to which section 117 (j) (3) applies. Such term also includes livestock (but not poultry) held for draft, breeding, or dairy purposes and held for 12 months or more from the date of acquisition.

Section 117 (j) provides special treatment for the gains and losses upon the sale or exchange of depreciable property and of land, held for more than 6 months, and for the gains and losses upon the compulsory or involuntary conversion of such depreciable property and land and of capital assets held for more than 6 months.

able property and land and of capital assets held for more than 6 months.

The method prescribed in section 117 (j) (2) is to treat such gains and losses during the taxable year as gains and losses from the sale or exchange of capital assets held for more than 6 months, if the aggregate of such gains exceeds the aggregate of such losses. If, however, the aggregate of such gains does not exceed the aggregate of such losses, such gains and losses shall not be treated as gains and losses from the sale or exchange of capital assets held for more than 6 months. for more than 6 months.

In determining whether gains do or do not exceed losses, it is necessary to include the gains and losses to the extent that they would be included if they were all ordinary gains and losses. The limitations of section 117 (d) on the deductibility of capital losses do not operate to exclude any such losses from the computation as to the excess of gains over losses, but all such losses are included in full in full.

For special treatment of gain or loss upon the cutting of timber, or upon the disposal of timber or coal under a contract by which the owner retains an economic interest in such timber or coal, see section 117 (k).

the owner retains an economic interest in such timber or coal, see section 117 (k).

Alternative tax.—If for any taxable year the net long-term capital gain exceeds the net short-term capital loss or in case of only a net long-term capital gain, section 117 (c) imposes an alternative tax in lieu of the normal tax and surtax imposed upon net income, if and only if such tax is less than the tax imposed by sections 13 and 15 (relating to normal tax and surtax on corporations), sections 204 and 207 (a) (1) or (3) (relating to normal tax and surtax on insurance companies, other than life insurance companies), section 421 (relating to taxation of business income of certain section 101 organizations), and section 500 (relating to surtax on personal holding companies). The alternative tax is the sum of (1) a partial tax, computed at the normal tax and surtax rates on the net income decreased by the amount of the excess of the net long-term capital gain over the net short-term capital loss, and (2) 26 percent of such excess.

If the total dividends received credit (line 2, page 3, Form 1120) is limited to an amount not in excess of 85 percent of the adjusted net income, such credit, for the purpose of the alternative tax, should be recomputed by using an amount equal to 85 percent of the adjusted net income computed without taking into account the excess of the net long-term capital gain over the net short-term capital loss. The surtax net income to be entered on line 11 on other side should reflect any change in the total dividends received credit.

Bonds, etc., losses of banks.—In the case of a bank, as defined

Bonds, etc., losses of banks.—In the case of a bank, as defined in section 104, if the losses of the taxable year from sales or exchanges of bonds, debentures, notes, or certificates, or other evidence of indebtedness, issued by any corporation (including one issued by a government or political subdivision thereof) with interest coupons or in registered form, exceed the gains from such sales or exchanges, such excess shall be considered as an ordinary loss and deductible in full against other income.

Dealers in securities. Capital pains and ordinary losses—Under sales or exchanges, such excess shall be considered as an ordinary loss and deductible in full against other income.

Dealers in securities. Capital gains and ordinary losses.—Under the provisions of section 117 (n), gain by a dealer in securities from the sale or exchange of a security, as defined in section 117 (n) (3) shall in no event be considered as gain from the sale or exchange of a capital asset unless (a) the security is, prior to the expiration of the thirtieth day after its acquisition or after October 20, 1951, whichever is later, clearly identified in the dealer's records as a security held for investment; and (b) the security is not, at any time after the expiration of such thirtieth day, held by the dealer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of the trade or business. A loss from the sale or exchange of a security shall, if section 117 (i) is not applicable, be considered a capital loss if at any time after the thirtieth day following the date of enactment of such act the security was clearly identified in the dealer's record as a security held for investment.

Short sales of capital assets.—For specific rules relating to the tax consequences of certain short sales of stock or other securities, transactions in stock or securities on a "when issued" basis, and transactions in commodity futures, see section 117 (g) and (l) and the regulations issued thereunder.

Collapsible corporations.—Gain from the sale or exchange of stock of a collapsible corporation as defined in section 117 (m) (2), which otherwise would be treated as a long-term capital gain, will be treated under the provisions of section 117 (m) as gain from the sale or exchange of property which is not a capital asset.
